

```

import os
import shutil

Enter the folder path you want to organize folder_path = r"C:\Users\YourName\Downloads"

File categories and extensions
file_types = {
    "Images": [".jpg", ".jpeg", ".png", ".gif", ".bmp"],
    "Documents": [".pdf", ".doc", ".docx", ".txt", ".ppt", ".pptx", ".xls", ".xlsx"],
    "Videos": [".mp4", ".avi", ".mkv", ".mov"],
    "Audio": [".mp3", ".wav", ".aac"],
    "Archives": [".zip", ".rar", ".7z"]
}

Create category folders
for category in file_types:
    os.makedirs(os.path.join(folder_path, category), exist_ok=True)

Create Others folder
others_folder = os.path.join(folder_path, "Others") os.makedirs(others_folder, exist_ok=True)

Organize files
for filename in os.listdir(folder_path):
    file_path = os.path.join(folder_path, filename)

    # Skip folders
    if not os.path.isfile(file_path):
        continue

    file_ext = os.path.splitext(filename)[1].lower() moved = False

    for category, extensions in file_types.items():
        if file_ext in extensions:
            destination = os.path.join(folder_path, category, filename) shutil.move(file_path, destination)
            print(f"Moved: {filename} -> {category}") moved = True
            break

    if not moved:
        destination = os.path.join(others_folder, filename)
        shutil.move(file_path, destination)
        print(f"Moved: {filename} -> Others") print("\nFile organization completed successfully!")

```